Town Elections – With a light turnout on Tuesday, May 1st, Mayor Nancy Gill was returned to office for a second two year term. Council members Laura Mellusi, Zack Bullock, Dan Gritsko and Josh Peck retained their positions. Newcomers Eddie Payne and Stuart Munson will fill the two remaining seats. As is the usual procedure, the candidate receiving the most votes is named vice mayor. Mellusi will assume that position for the next term.

Planning Commission – A public hearing was held on Monday, May 7th, to discuss a rezoning of 590 Valley Street from residential to commercial. The applicant, Mr. Jianwang Xing, came before the commission requesting the zoning change so that he could operate a restaurant at that location. Comments from the public, both pro and con, were made and the commission voted to recommend to council that the request be denied.

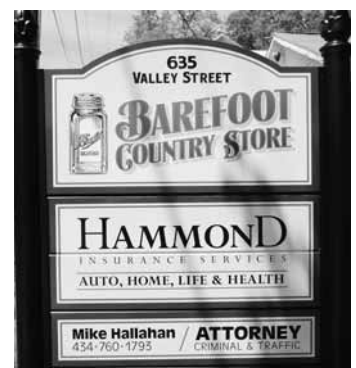

Also on the agenda was a review of the Comprehensive Plan draft with updates in statistical information and other minor changes proposed by the commission. That document, which has to be reviewed every five years, will be voted upon in June by council.

Outbuilding that does not follow initial design approved by ARB, according to town manager Matt Lawless.

Barefoot Country Store – There has been some work at the store's location, 635 Valley Street, that may have violated both town ordinances and FEMA regulations, according to Town Manager Matt Lawless. The work that was done -- retaining walls and gravel for a parking area along Mink Creek which borders the rear of the property -- may need permission of the town or FEMA. FEMA requires a professional engineering study to determine environmental impact when any type of work is done within a flood plain or along a creek or river. The work that has been done lies in the flood plain. Also, it was noted that there may be some issues with a second building on the property regarding concerns the Architectural Review Board has that the structure differs substantially from the plans that were presented to that body. The ARB approved the original submission and issued its approval based on that submission.

Unauthorized construction along Mink Creek, according to town manager Matt Lawless.

Scottsville Museum – The museum is planning its annual Spirit Walk event in September. Those interested in participating are asked to contact the museum. Also, the museum is interested in creating an exhibit centered on the railroad and its history in Scottsville. Anyone who has knowledge of that topic is asked to contact the museum.

Police Chief Retires – Scottsville Police Chief Robert Layman has retired after fifteen years of service to the town. At the April meeting of the Public Safety Committee, Layman indicated his intentions. He said, "I'm 69 years old and that is when most people retire." He will now have time to farm, an activity he greatly enjoys. When asked why he stayed on the job for fifteen years his reply was, "because I like it here."

Scottsville police officer Jeff Vohwinkel has been appointed interim chief.

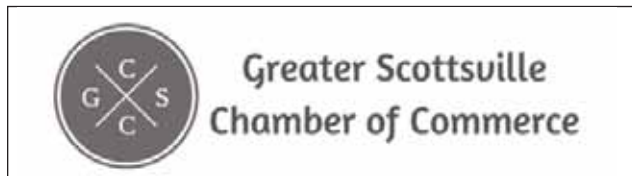

Upcoming Events – The town calendar has scheduled the following:

The annual VFW Memorial Day ceremony. This event will take place at the pavilion Sunday, May 27th, at 3:00 pm.

In June, the Batteau festival will take place on Wednesday, June 20th from 3-7 pm.

September 8th will be a celebration of 200 years that Scottsville has been incorporated. There will be a number of activities, music and fun for the whole town. The town's Arts and Culture Committee is organizing that event.

Be sure to visit the town's website to see what is going on. For a small town, there is always a lot to do!

Good to Be Back Home

By Ron Smith

A lot of us have a particular song that we like to call “our” song. It could be a song we grew up with or one that became a favorite later in life. If Debbie Smith has a favorite song it might be John Denver’s “Country Roads” when he sings “hey it’s good to be back home again.”

Debbie Smith, a Scottsville native, recently returned to her hometown after a career with the United States government having served in several agencies.

Growing up on the Fluvanna side of Scottsville, Debbie graduated from Fluvanna High School. From there she entered Longwood University from which she earned her Bachelor of Science Degree in business management. Then it was northward to Washington to work in the Pentagon.

Working with contracts was Debbie’s specialty. “From the Pentagon I moved to the Internal Revenue Service,” she said. “Then over to Homeland Security, eventually moving to the Department of the U. S. Mint,” she added, “retiring last year.”

Obviously the pace of living in Arlington is quite different than that of Scottsville. Debbie was ready to “move back home.” She has a new home in Scottsville currently under construction; she’s here to stay!

So, how does she occupy her time now that she is retired? The Scottsville Farmers Market was in need of a permanent manager. Debbie answered the call. With her knowledge of the area and the people who live here, combined with her management and contracting skills, she applied for and was selected for the position of Farmers Market manager.

“And,” Debbie says, “I am having a lot of fun.” “I work with the vendors and farmers, but they are the ones who do all the work. Still I try to do as much as possible for them so they will be successful,” she added.

The Farmers Market is only one activity Debbie is pursuing in retirement. This year she took over the coordination and planning for the annual Meals on Wheels Fish Fry fundraiser. She was introduced to Marilyn Schwarz who, for a number of years, had coordinated that event but found it necessary to find someone willing to assume her responsibilities. Debbie stepped up and volunteered to assume that challenge. She also is a substitute driver for Meals on Wheels/ delivering meals when a regular driver has a conflict and needs someone to take their place.

Debbie says she “enjoys being back.” “Everyone is helpful and people don’t mind pitching in to get the job done,” she said. She credits the market vendors and Meals on Wheels volunteers with helping her to get to know the ropes.

The Farmers Market is doing well with more produce offered every week. The SNAP program has been reinstated and there is even very preliminary discussions regarding expanding the market with a satellite location on a weekday.

Visit the Scottsville Farmers Market on Saturday. Support the local farmers and vendors. And say hello to Debbie Smith. You can also say “welcome home!”

Pontoon boats burn at Lake Monticello beach

By Duncan Nixon
Correspondent

Boat fires at Lake Monticello's Beach 4 sent huge plumes of black smoke into the air. Photo by Deborah Nixon

A fire broke out May 3 around 1:30 p.m. on an unoccupied pontoon boat moored at the boat dock adjacent to Lake Monticello's Beach 4. The fire spread to five other boats, sending huge plumes of black smoke into the air.

No one was injured, and the cause of the initial fire is not yet known.

Lake Monticello Fire Chief Ritchie Constantino said the intensity of the fire caused it to spread from boat to boat and to the docks.

Multiple explosions – possibly caused by exploding gas tanks on the boats – were heard.

Lake Monticello residents and pontoon boat owners Ken and Nancy Quantock were working on their boat several slips away when the fire started. The Quantocks quickly alerted the young children playing on Beach 4 to leave the beach and stay out of harm's way. Nancy Quantock said, "I have never been so scared in my life."

Multiple 911 calls were made by Lake Monticello residents, and the fire department and the police were quickly on the scene.

Several of the docks to which the boats were tied were melted. Lake Monticello General Manager Steven Hurwitz was also on the scene and he noted that the docks would have to be replaced. Most, though not all, boat owners have insurance.

Constantino said that the lake is being checked to ensure that there is no contamination from gasoline or oil, which may have been consumed in the intense fires.

Beach 4 is closed until further notice, Hurwitz said in an email sent to residents on Monday. "Please exercise caution if underway in Jackson Cove. Our Emergency Management Team is meeting daily and we will update the community as new information becomes available," he said.

He said that there was excellent cooperation between the several fire departments, police departments and Lake marina staff that responded.

Health Center's Laboratory Recognized for Quality Laboratory Services

Central Virginia Community Health Center (CVCHC) is pleased to announce that its in-house laboratory has met all criteria for Laboratory Accreditation by COLA, a national healthcare accreditation organization. Accreditation is given only to laboratories that apply rigid standards of quality in day-to-day operations, demonstrate continued accuracy in the performance of proficiency testing, and pass a rigorous on-site laboratory survey. CVCHC's lab has earned COLA accreditation as a result of a long-term commitment to provide quality service to its patients.

COLA is a nonprofit, physician-directed organization promoting quality and excellence in medicine and patient care through programs of voluntary education, achievement, and accreditation. It is approved by the federal government and sponsored by the American Academy of Family Physicians, the American Medical Association, and the American College of Physicians- American Society of Internal Medicine.

CENTRAL VIRGINIA
HEALTH SERVICES

CVCHC is part of Central Virginia Health Services (CVHS), a nonprofit community health center - Virginia's first community health center. CVCHC currently offers family medical, dental, behavioral health, and pharmacy services. Community health centers like CVCHC are community-based and patient-directed organizations that serve populations with limited access to health care because of geography, lack of insurance, poverty, or other factors. Along with other health care safety net providers, the health center plays a key role in the community's health. CVCHC takes most insurance plans and offers an income-based discount for services for low-income families.

To make an appointment to see any of the providers at CVCHC, please call the office at 434-581-3271. For additional information, please feel free to contact Amanda Morgan, Director of Marketing and Government Affairs, 434-581-4073 x.10732 or 434-960-8315.

Free Speech vs. Hate Speech

This month we're thrilled to present University of Virginia President Teresa A. Sullivan. In her presentation Free Speech vs. Hate Speech, President Sullivan will be discussing the national debate concerning free speech on college campuses, the dividing prepare for public assemblies that can lead to clashes.

President Sullivan is UVA's eighth president. Since taking office in 2010 she has led UVA through a period of significant progress. She's a respected scholar in labor force demography and a Fellow of the American Academy of Arts & Sciences and of the American Association for the Advancement of Sciences. She's a graduate of Michigan State University's James Madison College, and earned her doctoral degree in sociology from the University of Chicago.
