Fluvanna celebrates the holidays

BY MADELINE OTTEN
CORRESPONDENT

The holiday season came a little early this year with Thanksgiving falling sooner in November than in previous years. Radio stations, shopping malls, and grocery stores have all taken the opportunity to blast their festive playlists to get people in the mood for the holidays. As winter approaches, Fluvanna County is also preparing for the holiday season.

To kick off the season, the Fluvanna

Community Singers performed Nov. 30 and Dec. 1, singing old and new songs of the season under director Scott David.

Lake Monticello Owners' Association also celebrated Dec. 1 at the Ashlawn Clubhouse, where guests decorated cookies, drank hot cocoa, and took photos with Santa.

Fluvanna County Parks and Recreation will host an open house Dec. 7 from 6-8 p.m. at Pleasant Grove. All ages are welcome to join the fun with crafts, light refreshments, and outdoor tree lighting. To help the county get into the holiday spirit, admission is one non-perishable food item for Monticello Area Community Action Agency (MACAA).

MACAA serves the City of Charlottesville as well as the counties of Albemarle, Fluvanna, Louisa and Nelson. Its mission is "to improve the lives of people with low income by helping them become self-reliant, thereby enhancing the economic vitality and well-being of the community."

The following day (Dec. 8) the county will continue to celebrate with the Holiday Tree Lighting Celebration from 2-4 p.m. at the Carysbrook Performing Arts Center. Admission to the event is also a canned good donation or non-perishable item for MACAA. Holiday performances consist of Fluvanna's Flut-terwheels, Empowered Players, Brushwood's School of Dance and 2 Wishes: Mike D'Antoni and Joy Kuhar. All are encouraged to take advantage of the free photo with Santa Claus.

Cunningham Creek will also be hosting multiple events throughout December at their vineyard to help spread some holiday cheer. On Dec. 8 the vineyard is also hosting Santa from 1-5 p.m. and guests are asked to bring a non-perishable food donation for MACAA.

After Santa, guests can join the Fluvanna SPCA for wine, food, music, silent auction and raffle at the 12 Strays Soiree from 6:30-9 p.m. to support the animals. Tickets are available for purchase at Happy Tails in Palmyra as well as the Fluvanna SPCA.

Cunningham Creek will also hold a Perfect Paring of Dessert and Wine Dec. 14 at 7 p.m., and on Dec. 15 county residents are encouraged to show off their favorite ugly holiday sweater and enter into the Ugly Sweater Queen and King Contest starting at 3 p.m. Guests may also reserve a spot on the same day at Cunningham Creek's Cork Ornament Class from 2-5 p.m. and bring their decoration back home.

Empowered Players will perform the classic animated television special A Charlie Brown Christmas to help discover the true meaning of Christmas. The play is set for Dec. 16 at 3 p.m. and tickets will be sold at the door for $5.

On Dec. 19 from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m., members within Active Adult Center are invited to a free event at the Fluvanna Community Center. This event welcomes visitors age 55 and up with encouragement to sign up and will consist of a delightful holiday lunch and a drawing for raffle prizes. Santa will also be making a visit for local preschoolers on this special day.

Last but not least, as the end of the month approaches, be sure to take a drive around the neighborhood and enjoy decorated houses. Bring along your favorite holiday CD or tune in to Z95.1 for some festive tunes. Also be on the lookout for some houses that have their lights set in coordination with certain radio stations. Those that do will have a sign in front of the house letting curious drivers know the correct station.

CONSIDERING A MOVE IN THE NEAR FUTURE?

If so, you've probably got a lot of questions.

- How's the market in Fluvanna?
- Where does my home fit into the bigger picture?
- With low inventory, will we need to make improvements to our home before we sell?

As a Fluvanna resident and successful Realtor, with years of experience in the Fluvanna marketplace, I'd love the opportunity to meet with you and discuss how your home fits into the current marketplace.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC OF AN APPLICATION BY VIRGINIA ELECTRIC AND POWER COMPANY FOR APPROVAL AND CERTIFICATION OF ELECTRIC TRANSMISSION FACILITIES: FORK UNION SUBSTATION AND RELATED LINE CUT-IN PROJECT CASE NO. PUR-2018-00159

On October 30, 2018, Virginia Electric and Power Company (“Dominion” or “Company”) filed an application (“Application”) seeking approval and amended certificates of public convenience and necessity (“CPCNs”) pursuant to Code § 56-46.1 and the Utilities Facilities Act, Code § 56-265.1 et seq.

Specifically, through its Application, the Company seeks to construct a new substation located in Fluvanna County, Virginia, 1.5 miles from Breomo Power Station (“Fork Union Substation”); and, as part of this effort, cut in Breomo-Cunningham Line #5, Breomo-Sherwood Line #91, and Breomo Charlottesville Line #2028 into the proposed new Fork Union Substation (collectively, the “Project”).

Dominion represents that the proposed Project is necessary to resolve potential violations of North American Electric Reliability Corporation (“NERC”) reliability standards related to the deactivation and cold storage of the Company’s Breomo Power Station Units 3 and 4. Specifically, according to Dominion, the proposed Project would address potential NERC violations by providing a long-term solution with the introduction of a new 115 kilovolt network source to serve the Gordonsville load area. Dominion estimates the conceptual cost of the proposed Project to be approximately $27.2 million, which includes $5.4 million for transmission-related work and $21.8 million for substation-related work (2018 dollars).

The Company seeks an in-service date for the proposed Project of November 30, 2019. Dominion anticipates the proposed Project will take approximately nine months to construct after the Commission issues a final order. Thus, Dominion seeks a final order no later than March 1, 2019, which approves the Project and grants the requested CPCNs.

Description of the Proposed Project

The Company proposes to construct a new Fork Union Substation on a 27-acre parcel owned by the Company in Fluvanna County, Virginia. The property is located approximately 0.7-mile south of the intersection of James Madison highway (Route 15) and Cedar Wood Lane. The parcel generally is located on and around an existing Company-owned 250-foot-wide right-of-way, where three existing transmission lines are located. The new Fork Union Substation would consist of typical substation equipment to include on 230/115 kilovolt, 224 megavolt-amperes power transformer and four backbone structures that range from 70 to 95 feet in height. To connect the three existing transmission lines to the proposed substation within the existing transmission right-of-way corridor, the removal of five structures and the installation of 15 new structures, for a net gain of 10 structures, would be required. All but four of these structures would be located on Company-owned property; the remaining four structures would be located within an existing transmission right-of-way corridor. The five existing structures to be removed range in height from 50 to 88 feet, with an average height of 68 feet. The proposed structure heights range from 50 to 135 feet, with an average height of 84 feet.

All distances and directions are approximate. A sketch map of the proposed route accompanies this notice. A more detailed map of the proposed route may be viewed on the Commission’s website: <http://www.scc.virginia.gov/pur/elec/transline.aspx>.

The Commission may consider a route not significantly different from the route described in this notice without additional notice to the public.

Concurrent with its Application, Dominion filed a Motion for Interim Authority. In its Motion for Interim Authority, Dominion seeks expedited approval to begin pre-construction grading at the site of the proposed Fork Union Substation until the Commission has an opportunity to act on the Application. The Commission granted this Motion. However, the Company performs this work “at its own risk with the knowledge that such activities will ‘not deter the Commission from establishing conditions... which would require abandonment or alteration of any work undertaken in advance of [the Commission’s final judgment].’”

Copies of the public version of the Application and documents filed in this case also are available for interested persons to review in the Commission’s Document Control Center, located on the first floor of the Tyler Building, 1300 East Main Street, Richmond, Virginia 23219, between the hours of 8:15 a.m. and 5 p.m., Monday through Friday, excluding holidays. Interested persons also may download unofficial copies from the Commission’s website: <http://www.scc.virginia.gov/case>.

Any interested person desiring to file comments electronically may do so on or before January 8, 2019, by following the instructions on the Commission’s website: <http://www.scc.virginia.gov/case>. Fluvanna to share public safety radio system with Louisa

Merger will improve coordination, save money

BY HEATHER MICHON, CORRESPONDENT

The Fluvanna County Board of Supervisors voted unanimously to approve an agreement to unite public safety communications systems with Louisa County following a public hearing during its Nov. 20 meeting.

Under the agreement, Fluvanna and Louisa emergency communications system will become the Piedmont Public Safety Communication System, allowing the two counties to share one common communications system and splitting the costs of maintenance.

According to information provided to the board, Louisa County will pay $381,689 for the system “core,” a hub needed to combine the two systems. They will also pay an estimated $78,000 a year for routine maintenance.

In an email, County Administrator Steve Nichols said the idea of sharing systems had been discussed between the two counties for about a decade. Fluvanna upgraded its equipment in 2017, and Louisa is currently upgrading to a similar Motorola system.

Not only will both counties save money, but the arrangement could also enhance coordination during emergencies. The two systems are, at the moment, incompatible.

“It’ll make it a lot easier for us to work together with Louisa,” Supervisor Mike Sheridan said during the Nov. 20 meeting. A volunteer firefighter in Kents Store, he remarked that they sometimes end up just tossing their Louisa counterparts a spare radio so they can communicate when working the same incident.

“This system will allow our responders to integrate into an incident seamlessly,” said Michael Grandstaff, director of communications for Fluvanna’s E911 center.

Nichols told supervisors that the agreement is “certainly a win-win, and a great collaboration,” and it may be just the beginning. Madison and Greene counties are already looking into the potential of joining the system in the coming years.

Lake fees on the rise

BY HEATHER MICHON
CORRESPONDENT

Lake Monticello households will soon be receiving the bill for their 2019 dues and fees, and it's going to be noticeably larger than it was this time last year.

In 2018, dues and improved property fees totaled $996.

For 2019, the total will climb to $1,073.

Under the association's rules, the Board of Directors can unilaterally raise dues by 3 percent a year. For 2019, that constructing or running the new pool facility: "The fees for the pool have not increased in years, and with the new pool and better facilities, we believe the fees are still a good deal for the residents."

The prices at the recently renovated Ashlawn tennis and pickleball courts are also going up. An individual season pass will rise from $67 in 2018 to $100 in 2019. An annual pass for couples will be means an increase of about $25, from $836 to $861.

Improved property fees, which cover recycling, trash, and storm cleanup, went up sharply from $160 in 2018 to $212 for 2018.

That increase is due to the hike in recycling costs.

Lake Monticello, like many communities across the country, was caught short early in the year when most trash haulers suddenly ended single-stream recycling. They quickly negotiated a new contract for curbside pickup of recyclables at a rate of about $1 a week per household.

LMOA has paid the difference between the old and new contracts since June, with the understanding that homeowners would take on that increased cost in 2019.

Several amenities will also see price increases.

The cost of a seasonal pass for a family using the new pool will go from $300 to $350, and an individual pass will rise from $90 to $100.

General Manager Steven Hurwitz said the increase is not due to the costs of offered at $170. Residents may play for free at the Tufton-Lafayette courts.

Marina fees are largely unchanged, although annual registrations for boats between 11-199 horsepower will see very modest increases of $2 to $5.

Golf memberships will rise anywhere between $20 to $200, depending on membership type. For example, the family plan will increase from $2,150 to $2,200, while an 18-hole membership with cart will go from $750 to $965.

Another fee that might affect residents comes in the form of a policy change that will require those who live inside the gates to get barcodes for their cars.

Currently, cars without barcodes can enter only at the Main Gate and Turkey-sag.

"During rush periods those gates can get very backed up and the staff in the main gate can get very busy with assisting the residents entering the community," said Hurwitz. "The policy change should help with that issue."

A full list of the new fees can be viewed on LMOAvoice.org.

Local travelers talk about Taiwan

BY PAGE H. GIFFORD

Fluvanna residents Sue and Al Mink often travel to Europe, living three months at a time in various places, but thought it was about time to explore other places outside Europe.

“We wanted to broaden our horizons,” said Sue Mink, who agreed with her husband that Taiwan would be the ideal place to visit. “Also, Al loves to bicycle, and we’d heard that it’s some of the best biking in the world, it’s affordable and the people are very nice.”

She said the best part of the trip was the people.

“They are the friendliest people on earth. Every day we had people telling us ‘Welcome to Taiwan!’ Our neighbors in our apartment building invited us to dinner, and we got to the point where we hesitated to ask directions because people would go way out of their way to make sure that we found where we were going. No crime, no worries about pick-pocketing, nothing, just lovely, honest, warm people.”

Also, Mink said, “It’s a spectacularly beautiful country.” One of the many places they spent time in was Taroko National Park. Originally part of the Japanese Empire, it was established in 1937, but after Japan’s defeat in World War II, it became part of the Republic of China.

The park is a place of pristine, natural beauty, with a flawless coastline, canyons, gorges and blue lagoons. Carved out of ocean beds, it is made of limestone.

Every place they visited looked like the cover of National Geographic, she said.

“Taroko Gorge was every bit as beautiful as Yosemite if not more so, and the entire east coast is amazing,” Mink said.

Living there, they had a chance to partake in everyday life. Mink said they loved the metro system in Taipei; it was clean, inexpensive, and provided a look into the future.

“The street markets were a lot of fun – we had a small one right outside our apartment building. I got spoiled and when you can get great food for under $2 a meal, it’s hard to be motivated to cook,” she said. “In fact, we learned that few Taiwanese actually know how to cook. The best food was at the street markets and little hole in the wall family restaurants.”

They also wandered through Dadaocheng, the area that retains the marks of Japanese colonialism, and where they ate some of the best sushi on the ground floor of the Yongle market.

She added that some apartments in Taipei don't even have kitchens and that their apartment only had one burner. Homes may have what they call a kitchen, which consists of a hot plate in the counter and a sink. People in Taiwan eat out because the cost is so cheap compared with the rest of the world.

"I'm ruined for life for sashimi and sushi because it was so fresh and so good," Mink said. She described other native food that she fell in love with, including the famous Taiwanese beef noodle soup and scallion pancakes with a fried egg inside, served with a little duck sauce and hot sauce – all for about $1.20.

"However, there was some food that I wasn't as fond of – they seem to like pig intestines – too chewy for my taste – and they also have 'stinky tofu' – tofu that is marinated and smells like bad sneakers. We ate it on a challenge. Once," she laughed.

"Taipei is one of the most fascinating places we've ever explored," she said. As someone who has lived in various cities, Mink said Taipei is an extremely easy city to live in – easy to navigate and get around, and set up for convenient living.

One of the drawbacks to living in Taiwan, and their biggest adjustment, was the size of the apartment.

"Our entire two-bedroom apartment could fit into our eat-in kitchen here at Lake Monticello. Asian living quarters are small. It's very nice to get home and have room," she said.

The other thing they discovered was difficult was the price of anything dairy. "Milk was about $9 a gallon, and it was nearly impossible to find cheese that wasn't super processed. We started to drink a lot more tea, because we like a lot of milk in our coffee," she said.

The other interesting aspect of city living is that the garbage trucks play music to call people to bring out their trash. At first they couldn't imagine what it was. The sounds reminded them of the old Good Humor ice cream trucks that would tour neighborhoods.

In addition, Taipei is very, very hot and rainy. "It was uncomfortable when we got there the end of August – but by the time we left in mid-November, it was high 70s and low 80s – perfect," she said.

"One of the most interesting things

See Taiwan, page 14

To advertise call: 434.207.0223

about Taiwan were the temples. You always knew when you were getting close to one because you could smell the incense. They had beautiful Koji ceramics on the roof," she said, then went on to describe their religious rituals. "Inside, it was very interesting to watch the people pray. They would hold the incense up to their forehead and bow three times. Sometimes they'd throw two red crescent-shaped wooden objects called jiaobai while they prayed. Depending on how they fell, it told them answers to their prayers. They also would pull sticks that had a number on them from a bowl after prayers. The numbers would refer to a little drawer in a cabinet in the back of the temple. Inside the drawers would be written fortunes or guidance from the gods."

Sometimes they would see temple parades, in which people would carry large effigies of the gods through the streets to the temples. Almost like a Taiwanese Mardi Gras, they would throw firecrackers and bang drums, resulting in a little bit of bedlam in the streets.

For those visiting for a short time, unlike the Minks' three-month stint, she recommended Taroko National Park and particularly the Taroko Gorge as a must-see. She said the government-run hotel, called Silks, is beautiful and guests can take tours right from the hotel. She also highly recommended going down the eastern coast for a few days – either by car, bus or by bicycle. It's one of the prettiest places she and her husband have ever seen.

In Taipei, one of the best things to do is just walk the streets, she said. Duck into temples. Spend time in the markets. She would try to do the jade market that is held every weekend underneath the elevated highway. They also wandered the streets around Dongshan for a real "old Taipei" market feel. She suggested taking the gondola up into the mountains.

"It's part of the Taipei metro system and it's a half hour of spectacular views of the city that drops you off in tea fields where you can try some of the best tea in the world," she said. "Take the super fast elevator up Taipei 101, one of the tallest buildings in the world, and look down on the city from heights that will make you think you're in an airplane. And don't miss out on the Palace Museum, which holds the greatest collection of Chinese art in the world.

"It's a bustling, busy city, but it's got a kind, warm heart," Mink continued. "People smile and wave, help old people cross the street, and I don't think I ever saw an angry word exchanged on the street. People smile and watch out for one another. It would be nice if more of the world would have the heart of Taiwan."

Fluco boys' basketball stumbles in close game

Falls to Waynesboro 50-56

BY DUNCAN NIXON
CORRESPONDENT

three point shot by Waynesboro closed the gap to three.

In the second quarter, the Flucos put up only 11 points. Senior forward Andrew Pace and junior guard Jamal Opie had three pointers for the Flucos. Again, the final score of the quarter was by Waynesboro. This time it was a lay-up to tie the score.

The pattern of Waynesboro closing the quarter strong continued in the second half. The last minute and a half of the third quarter and the fourth quarter proved to be the Flucos' undoing. The third quarter started with a lay-up basket by Fluco junior center Walt Stribling. Freshman point guard Kobe Edmonds followed with two free throws and, after Rittenhouse scored another three point basket, the Flucos held a 32-30 lead.

Waynesboro bounced back to take a one point lead at 37-36, but Edmonds made an impressive steal and was fouled on his drive to the basket. With 1:26 left in the quarter, he hit both shots for a 38-37 Fluco lead. In that final 1:26, Waynesboro outscored Fluvanna 9-1 to take a seven-point lead into the final stanza.

In the fourth quarter, the Flucos worked hard to get back in the game. Defensively they switched from man-to-man to a zone. A basket by Pace on good pass from Edmonds cut the Waynesboro lead to three. Pace added two free throws to cut the lead to one. Midway through the quarter, Edmonds made another steal and was fouled on his lay-in. He made the free throw for an old fashioned three point play which gave the Flucos a 50-49 lead.

Unfortunately, the next three points scored were all Waynesboro free throws, and the Little Giants led by two at 52-50 with 1:29 remaining. The Flucos failed to score in the last minute and a half and Waynesboro managed two free throws and a last-second lay-up for a six point win.

After the game, Davis said that his squad actually found the shots they wanted in the last minute and a half, but they just failed to go in.

Leading scorers for the Flucos were Rittenhouse with 19, including three three-point goals and Edmonds with 11, including nine free throws. Pace chipped in with seven.

In the Flucos' home opener on Tuesday (Nov. 27) the Flucos recorded a 70-61 win over Turner Ashby High. In that game, Pace led the scoring with 24 points. Edmonds had 20, while Stribling and Rittenhouse contributed 14 and 10 respectively. The Flucos led 25-24 at halftime, and pulled away in the second half. Davis noted that in this game the Flucos' shots at the end all went in.

The Flucos played at Turner Ashby Dec. 4 and will be at Orange County Dec. 7. They will host Albemarle High Dec. 11 and Madison County Dec. 13. And they travel to Powhatan Dec. 14.

In its second home game in two days, the Fluco boys' basketball team under Coach Jason Davis took on Waynesboro High on Wednesday (Nov. 28). The game was close all the way – seven points was the largest margin – and there were a number of lead changes through the contest. The Flucos jumped to a 14-11 lead after the first quarter, but the Little Giants came back to tie the game 25-25 at halftime.

Sophomore forward John Rittenhouse was hot early for the Flucos. He had the Flucos' first 12 points with two three pointers, two jump shots and two free throws. Senior forward Brandon Lytton finished the first quarter scoring for the Flucos with a lay-in for a 14-8 lead. A
