Council Begins New Term

By Ron Smith
Correspondent

Having all been sworn in for a new two year term, Scottsville Mayor Nancy Gill and Town Council wasted no time in getting down to work at the July 16th regular session of the Scottsville Town Council. New Council members Stuart Munson and Eddie Payne were present and ready to go.

Mayor Gill reported that the Rural Health Initiative was "moving forward, and more could be expected on that next month." She then recognized Scottsville's representative on the County Board of Supervisors, Rick Randolph, asking him to share any news of interest he might have for those present and the people watching at home.

Taking the podium, Randolph reported on several items of interest relating to the town. He spoke to the upcoming project of replacement of waterlines on both East and West Main Streets. The lines being replaced, he said, "are not only very old, they probably contain an amount of lead and that needs to be corrected." The project, scheduled to begin later this year is expected to take up to four months to complete.

Other items of interest shared by Randolph included a report that there had been meetings between the county and various volunteer rescue and fire services. There has been a critical shortage of volunteers, particularly with the rescue squads. Randolph noted that if the county went to all professionals, taxes could rise by two cents to fund the option. Along the same line regarding increases in what citizens pay for government services, he stated, "we most likely will soon have a water rate increase."

In Council actions, Laura Mellusi was appointed vice mayor. Having both a female mayor and vice mayor marks a significant era in the history of Scottsville. Mayor Gill noted that appointing council members to chairmanships of the various committees would be taken up at the August work session (second Monday) with the appointments to be announced at the August council meeting.

Josh Peck reported that the Planning Commission had sent the revised version of the Comprehensive Plan to Council. He also said the work will soon begin on improving sidewalks on Bird, Harrison and Main Streets. Mayor Gill said that "Council will take its time looking at the (Comprehensive) Plan before approving it or sending it back to the Planning Commission for revisions."

Zack Bullock, Council representative on the Architectural Review Board stated that there are two vacancies on the ARB. Persons interested in serving on that Board should contact the town administrator.

Dan Gritsko, who has been instrumental in overseeing the Van Clief Nature Area reported that there will be a meeting in August with DGIF regarding the installation of a dock at the lake. "Hopefully," he said, "we will have a dock in place before the end of 2018, but realistically that may not happen."

Laura Mellusi

Arts and Culture Chair Laura Mellusi reported that September 8th is the date for Scottsville's "River Town Festival" and a number of activities are being planned. (See related article page 4.)

Town Administrator Matt Lawless reported to Council that Albemarle County has a new Economic Development Director, Roger Johnson, and that the county's economic development plan has features that apply to Scottsville.

Council meets the second Monday of each month at 7pm.

Scottsville Celebrates 200 Years!

By Ron Smith
Correspondant

Even though Scottsville’s history dates from more than 10,000 years ago with the Monacan Indians who lived in the area, the town of Scott’s Landing was not founded until 1744 when it was designated Albemarle County’s first “county seat.”

Although the county seat and its first courthouse were moved in 1762 to Charlottesville, and parts of Albemarle were divided into Buckingham, Fluvanna, Amherst and Nelson counties, the town continued to be a major shipping hub to areas both east and west. With the James River and the Kanawha Canal, farmers and merchants from as far away as the Shenandoah Valley had a means of moving their goods and produce to distant markets. People also had a means of traveling to ports up and down the river on packet boats and bateaus.

Then in 1818 the town was incorporated. Over the next 200 years the town would see ups and downs, war, floods, growth and decline. But the town survived! In the mid 1800s there would be six churches built; those buildings still stand and are used today. After 1850 the railroad became the main means of transporting both people and goods as the canal became less profitable for its shareholders and river travel proved to be slow and unpredictable.

Following the Civil War, the town slowly began a rebuilding that would reach a high point in the early 1900s. By 1920 there were “twenty stores, two large flour mills, an ice plant, a theater, three garages, a braid factory, two large oil companies, two restaurants, a boarding house, two drugstores, three doctors, a dentist, two schools, two dairies, a shoe store and two blacksmith shops.” In 1944 the Scottsville Lions Club was responsible for the “tire plant” deciding to locate their factory in town providing a number of jobs and greatly helping the local economy.

Flooding still remained a problem. In the late 1980s Mayor A. Raymon Thacker was the force behind seeing that a levee was built to protect the town from the fickle James. Today Scottsville’s local economy has rebounded to the point where there are as many businesses today as there was in the 1950s and ‘60s. It is also a nice place to live.

Scottsville Vice Mayor Laura Mellusi, chairman of the Arts and Culture Committee, and the Town of Scottsville have designated Saturday, September 8th, Vice Mayor Laura Mellusi - Chairman of Arts & Culture - conceived and planned 200th anniversary of Scottsville celebration.

Healthy Eating and Active Living in Scottsville

Healthy eating and active living (HEAL) is not just for individuals or families. HEAL policies and practices can greatly impact the way people live – and improve both the physical and fiscal health of a community. So, municipal leaders across the United States are now recognizing that HEAL policies and practices should be part of short- and long-term planning as a key component to reducing health care costs, creating safer community environments, improving quality of life and attracting economic development.

The Town of Scottsville is committed to ensuring our community remains a great place to live, work, do business and play. As such, Scottsville Town Council recently voted to join the HEAL Cities & Towns Campaign. In doing so, our town receives free resources, advice and technical assistance from the Institute for Public Health Innovation. We're of a growing network of communities including Charlottesville, Staunton, Gordonsville, and Crewe.

Some HEAL action items are steps that any business can take: take the stairs if possible, and try scheduling a walking meeting.

Others affect the way the Town delivers services: look for increased foot patrol by our police officers, and maybe a bike!

Finally, we'll try to plan for improved health around the entire town, with new sidewalks and ideas for community gardens. If bigger development comes to town, it should be arranged so that cars aren't needed for every errand.

The HEAL Cities & Towns Campaign provides free technical assistance to local government leaders to help them create healthy, prosperous community environments that promote healthy eating and active living in Maryland and Virginia's cities and towns.

Volunteer for Town Boards and Committees

Volunteering with Scottsville's government makes a difference in the community and helps you learn about and engage with issues facing the town. Several different boards and committees have upcoming vacancies and need help. For many of these bodies, it's not required that members live inside the town limits: "greater Scottsville" residents are most welcome! To learn more, contact town staff or your neighbors who currently serve.

Vacancies:

Architectural Review Board: preserves the town's historic district and advises town council on plans and development decisions related to historic architecture. Meets on the first Thursday of the month.

Board of Zoning Appeals: hears appeals related to zoning decisions made by the town government. Meets quarterly or as needed for cases.

Van Clief Nature Area and Scottsville Lake

The Van Clief Nature Area is a 63-acre park owned by the Town of Scottsville and located just east of Valley Street downtown. The centerpiece of the nature area is Scottsville Lake, where fishing is now open to the public. The nature area is a long-term investment of the Town's, with development guided by the Van Clief Master Plan.

Hiking trails, a dock and other amenities are being developed now with the help of townspeople and volunteers — Please join the effort or share any comments or suggestions by contacting Councilman Dan Gritsko. Or contact the town office with any questions at 286-9267 or info@scottsville.org.

Van Clief Nature Area Guidelines:

ACCESS and PARKING – The closest GPS address for the driveway to the nature area and lake is 253 Hardware Street. (On older maps, you may see that Scottsville Lake was called Mink Creek Reservoir.)

There is a parking area next to the gate. Do not block the road or the gate and do not park in the gravel area near the cell towers.

The nature area includes the area surrounding the lake, many acres beyond the lake, an area below the dam, and a narrow strip of the land opposite the town businesses along Mink Creek. If you are in the area below the dam, please do not walk up the face of the dam.

HOURS – The nature area is open during daylight hours only and currently not open to vehicle traffic inside the gate. In case of emergency dial 911.

TRASH – Please do not leave any trash behind. Either deposit it in a trash can or bring trash out of the nature area with you. NO FIRES are permitted.

NOTE: Please do not walk up the face of the dam located between the lake and downtown. The dam is an engineered structure that is part of the town's flood control plan. Walk around the outlet structure and walk up the hillside immediately past the outlet structure.

Scottsville Lake Fishing and Trout Fishing

Scottsville Lake is stocked with trout by Virginia's Department of Game and Inland Fisheries. Anyone over age 16 must have a Virginia fishing license. If you fish the lake between October 1 and June 15, you must also have a Virginia trout license. (You do not need the additional trout license if you are fishing between June 15th and September 30th.)

Fishing license information and online purchasing are available on the Department of Game and Inland Fisheries website. Locally, licenses can be purchased at Coleman's Outdoors at 137 Main Street (434.286.2547).

You can keep 6 trout per day. No one can keep trout smaller than 7 inches. Catch limits for all species other than trout are according to State regulation. There are no lure restrictions.

Trout stocking will take place several times between October 1 and June 15. You can look for updates on the DGIF trout stocking website after 4pm the day of stocking.

If Trees Could Talk!

By Ron Smith
Correspondant

Friday, August 10th, saw the beginning of the end for the iconic oak tree that has graced the Chester Bed and Breakfast property for most of the 170 years of the Chester's existence.

If the massive tree, which was probably just a sapling during the Civil War, could talk, it would tell not only of the prominent figures who have strolled beneath its branches, but also of the numerous couples who have begun their married lives in the shade of its leaves.

Given the tree's age, fragility, and the series of violent storms of late, a large section came crashing to the ground recently. While the damage was limited to the tree and surrounding boxwoods, the entire tree will most likely have to come down.

Langden Mason's Present Company Excluded

November 9, 10, 11, 16, 17, 18
 Friday and Saturday at 7:30
 Sunday at 3:00pm

On October 31st, 1964, the Who's Who of Hollywood elite gather at an exclusive California bungalow for stiff cocktails and saucy conversation. The evening ends in apparent murder, four dead by poisoning. No suspects. Fast forward to October 31st, 1984. A tenacious real estate agent finds herself pushing the sale of the notorious bungalow, where a thick veil of murder still lingers. This dark comedy promises tricks and treats, twists and turns, and plenty of laughs delivered by the most witty and spirited characters ever confined under one roof. Written by Langden Mason.

EMERALD FLAVES
Presents
A CHARLIE BROWN CHRISTMAS

Sunday, December 16, 3:00 PM

The classic animated television special A CHARLIE BROWN CHRISTMAS comes to life in this faithful stage adaptation, in which Charlie Brown, Snoopy, and the rest of the Peanuts Gang discover the true meaning of Christmas. When Charlie Brown complains about the overwhelming materialism he sees among everyone during the Christmas season, Lucy suggests that he become director of the school Christmas pageant. Charlie Brown accepts, but this proves to be a frustrating endeavor. When an attempt to restore the proper holiday spirit with a forlorn little Christmas fir tree fails, he needs Linus' help to discover the real meaning of Christmas.

The Barter Players Present

The Princess And the Pea

By Hans Christian Andersen
 Adaptation by Catherine Bush

Sunday, January 13, 3:00 PM

Bandits have come to rob the kingdom. The only hope lies with Prince Harold, who must wed before he can be crowned king. But Harold is more interested in wrestling than girls—even when a beautiful maiden claiming to be Princess Marigold appears at the castle. Determined to stay single, Harold devises a way to test Marigold's qualifications using a garden pea and a stack of mattresses. Can Marigold pass the test? Will the kingdom be saved? A fun twist on a classic fairy tale. The Players will hold a Workshop for the audience following their production.

A View from a Train: Decoding the Stories and Music of the Underground Railroad

Saturday, February 16 at 7:30 pm

Following up on his past concerts that traced the music of soul, gospel, and the civil rights era, Horace Scruggs and his musical group return with another "learning and listening" concert to uncover the history behind the music of the Underground Railroad.

With stories of the courageous leaders in the movement and authentic renditions of "signal songs" and "map songs," this illuminating musical program brings to light the struggles, hopes, and the path toward salvation of those who took part in one of the greatest acts of mass resistance in American history.

IONA

Saturday, March 2 at 7:30 pm

An audience favorite, IONA is an award-winning, traditional pan Celtic band founded in 1986. The band weaves Celtic knots with songs in their original languages, traditional instrumentation, percussion (including footwork), and anecdotes. The haunting songs, toe-tapping dances and the humor of the Celtic peoples from Scotland to Brittany provide a wonderful evening of entertainment.

Novelist Peter Knight is struggling with writer's block. For inspiration, he retreats to an eerie old mansion where another writer was murdered years ago. When a strange electrical storm strikes and Peter's characters start showing up in person, he has to wonder—has he lost his mind? Or has he just lost control of his story? And what exactly are his characters up to—could it be that something sinister is afoot?
