Town Maintenance Issues Addressed by Council

By Ron Smith
Correspondent

The Scottsville Town Council addressed several issues regarding maintenance and safety at its regular meeting held Jan. 22. These included flood control, the Farmers Market Pavilion and road conditions.

The first maintenance issue discussed related to the repairs of flood control equipment. During a routine check of the pumping station's system for safely removing water from Mink Creek it was discovered that one pump engine had an oil leak and cooling system issues. To ensure the continued reliable operation of all pumps and the safety of the town it was decided by Council to spend the $10K needed to fix those problems.

Also related to the flood control system was the fact that over time a buildup of sludge/silt has accumulated in the system and needs to be removed. This will be attended to also. Mentioned also was that the motor that operates the flood gate, while currently working properly, is showing signs of wear and tear. Council decided to "keep an eye" on this item as replacing the motor is estimated to run in the neighborhood of $50K.

Town Administrator Matt Lawless stated that, "grants and low interest loans are funding sources for the work that needs to be done and also there is more than $165K in the town's reserve account should the town need to look in that direction.” Council agreed with Lawless and the work will begin soon.

The second maintenance issue dealt with the Farmers Market Pavilion. For some time now there has been a problem with water drainage and the appearance of settling of some of the columns that support the structure. The town put out a request for bids to fix the problems and only one was received; that one from Tocci and Sons, a local company that has a long history of work in the Scottsville area.

Patrick Tocci appeared before Council to report that after a thorough inspection he was certain that there is not significant “sinking” of the support timbers, but “two or three of those timbers show water damage” and “while that is not an immediate issue, unless something is done to address the drainage problem there will be future problems.”

Tocci stated that a “proper drainage system” would be the solution to the problems and his firm could handle all the work. Tocci estimated the cost would be $15.5K which will include drainage improvements around the public restroom facility there. Town Administrator Lawless stated that there was twice that amount in the town budget “earmarked and approved for this sort of maintenance.” Council voted to award the contract to Tocci.

Mountain Vista Road is a mostly unpaved road that runs northwest from Valley Street, crosses James River Road and continues on outside the town limits into Albemarle County. The section from Valley to James River is narrow, steep and winding. Polly Brill lives on that section.

Scottsville Chamber Names Tim Karr “Citizen of the Year”

By Ron Smith

Scottsville resident Tim Karr was named “Citizen of the Year” at the annual meeting of the Greater Scottsville Chamber of Commerce meeting held Jan. 21.

It was the second time Karr has been recognized for his community service in the past year. In July the Scottsville Monthly highlighted his twenty-six years of service to the town by spearheading the organization of the annual Fourth of July Parade and fireworks display. This was only one of the several aspects of Tim’s community service that made him qualified for this award.

Karr retired recently as a battalion chief with the Charlottesville Fire Department. He owns and operates a lawn care service, and is superintendent of the town’s flood control system, a responsibility that has kept him particularly busy over the past year due to the unusually large amount of rain that has fallen. He is also a chief with the Scottsville Volunteer Fire Department. He and his family attend Scottsville Baptist Church.

Tim was nominated for this honor by Scottsville Councilor Laura Mellusi. Members of the Chamber then had the opportunity to vote for a recipient. There were others nominated and the selection was difficult since all those nominated have contributed much to the community. After speaking about the many areas in which Karr serves as a volunteer, and expressing that Karr comes from a family of volunteers who have given an untold number of volunteer hours to Scottsville, Mellusi presented Karr to the audience who expressed their gratitude with a standing ovation. Tim’s name will be added to the Citizen of the Year plaque in the lobby of Town Hall.

The U.S. Chamber of Commerce was formed in 1912 when President William Howard Taft assembled 700 delegates to meet and offer advice to the government from a business aspect. Over the years the U.S. Chamber has initiated legislation that has resulted in programs such as the Federal Trade Commission. After the stock market crash President Hoover appealed to the Chamber for help in rebuilding the nation’s economy.

rebuilding the nation's economy.

The Scottsville Chamber is a "local" chamber meaning it deals with local issues and local business. The U.S. Chamber does not oversee local chambers, but local chambers can be members of the U.S. which represents over 3 million businesses. And, while some Chambers involve themselves in political matters, the Scottsville Chamber does not. The Scottsville Chamber can trace its origin to the late Haden Anderson who operated W. F. Paulett and Son, Inc. many years ago. He saw the need to establish an organization of local businesses who could not only help each other but work together to make the town of Scottsville a place where new businesses would want to come. Thus, the Scottsville Chamber of Commerce was born.

Scottsville Chamber President Linda LaFontaine will serve a third term as president. She received the Citizen of the Year Award in 2018. Dawn Story, James Walker and Ron Smith have agreed to serve on the Board of Directors for 2019.

Linda believes that "economic development is the driving force behind the success of any town or city, be it large or small." She added, "working with the town's Economic Development and Tourism Committees we envision making Scottsville a destination for a day or overnight visit and the continued success of our businesses and future business."

The Scottsville Chamber is focused on directing their energy "to ensure continued success for the businesses that are here now and those we look forward to welcoming in the future," LaFontaine said.

As an affiliate member of the Charlottesville Chamber, membership in the Scottsville Chamber offers a vast number of resources, benefits and connections for established as well as new businesses. The Scottsville Chamber's website is a good place to find the information needed to make the decision that "being a member is something you would want to do." So, "just do it!"

Concerns regarding this road were brought to the attention of the town's Public Safety Committee which forwarded them on to the town administrator who, in turn, brought the Virginia Department of Transportation into the conversation. Ms. Brill addressed Council citing various personal concerns she has. She spoke of "vehicles speeding, erosion and evidence of reckless driving after finding tire tracks off the road and vehicle parts strewn about." She noted that the road is so narrow that "if you meet another vehicle coming towards you then one of you is going to have to back up." She also stated that there have been tractor trailer trucks using the road from time to time evidently looking for "the back entrance to the Ace hardware store."

Administrator Lawless stated he would have further conversations with VDOT and present Council with various thoughts on solving the problems associated with this roadway.

After committee reports and no further business to discuss the meeting was adjourned.

Local Health Centers Receive Funds for Women's Health

Contributed by Amanda Morgan

Two local health centers are pleased to partner with the Virginia Department of Health in a new contraceptive initiative. Central Virginia Community Health Center (CVCHC) and Health Center for Women and Families (HCWF) are participating in the initiative which will allow low-income, uninsured women to receive long-acting reversible contraceptives (LARC) free of charge. The program is open to uninsured women and individuals do not have to be health center patients to receive the service. Those who are interested may call the health center for more information. Information from CVCHC may be obtained by calling 434-581-3271 or from HCWF by calling 434-392-8177.

CVCHC and HCWF are all part of Central Virginia Health Services (CVHS), a non-profit community health center - Virginia's first community health center. Services vary by location and include family medical, dental, prenatal, and behavioral health services.

Community health centers such as these are community-based and patient-directed organizations that serve populations with limited access to health care because of geography, lack of insurance, poverty, or other factors. Along with other health care safety net providers, the health centers play a key role in the community's health. The health centers take most insurance plans and offer an income-based discount for services for low-income families.

Text-to-911 service now available in Albemarle-UVa-Charlottesville region

There is now another option when it comes to getting help in an emergency for the Albemarle-UVa-Charlottesville area and anyone who is visiting or passing through.

In December 2018, the Emergency Communications Center (ECC) began accepting text messages to 911 from those who can't call during an emergency.

Overview of Text-to-911:

The preferred method for contacting 911 will always be to call, but the text-to-911 option should be used by anyone who is deaf or hard of hearing, is in a dangerous situation and afraid to speak out loud, or has a medical emergency that keeps them from talking.

An active data plan is required to use the text-to-911 service--simply connecting to Wi-Fi will not allow you to text-to-911. The service is available to anyone who lives, works, or travels to the Albemarle-UVa-Charlottesville area.

Residents should follow these guidelines when texting to 911: DO...

- Do call if you can, text if you can't
- Do send a text message to 911 if you are deaf or hard-of-hearing, can't speak, or it is not safe for you to speak out loud
- Do provide the exact location of the emergency in the text message
- Do call 911 if you don't get a reply by text or if you get a reply that texting is not available

DO NOT..

- Do not text and drive
- Do not send photos, emojis, or videos to 911
- Do not copy others on the message to 911; text-to-911 cannot include more than one person

For questions, please contact Penny Banks, Senior Systems Engineer, at: 434-977-9041.
